TRANSFORMING HOMES ON THE SPACE COAST AND BEYOND

In homes across the Space Coast, where lifestyle and environment are deeply connected, the spaces people live in carry meaning far beyond walls and finishes. For Castillo Remodelzone, that understanding is at the heart of every project, shaping a construction experience that is as thoughtful as it is functional.

Based in Melbourne, Castillo Remodelzone serves clients throughout the Space Coast and Indian River County, with plans to expand into Central Florida. The company specializes in residential construction, remodeling, kitchen and bath renovations and additions, including accessory dwelling units. But for founders Michelle and Quincy Castillo, the work goes beyond construction. It is about creating spaces that reflect how people live, feel and grow.

Michelle Castillo brings more than 20 years of experience in the construction industry. Over time, she noticed a recurring challenge: a disconnect between contractors, their teams and homeowners. Miscommunication and unmet expectations often led to frustration on all sides. Rather than accept that as the norm, she set out to better understand each perspective and build a more intentional approach.

Together with her brother and business partner, Quincy Castillo, she launched Castillo Remodelzone as a woman-owned, sibling-operated company grounded in communication, accountability and respect. From the beginning, their goal was to create not only high-quality construction projects but also a culture that supports their team and fosters long-term relationships with clients.

That relationship-driven mindset continues to define the business today. Each project begins with a conversation, not just about design or budget but about purpose. The team works to understand how a space will function, how it will feel and how it will enhance a homeowner's quality of life. Clear expectations are established early, with an emphasis on transparency in timelines, processes and outcomes.

In an industry often focused on transactions, Castillo Remodelzone takes a different approach. Clients are not viewed as one-time customers but as partners in a shared vision. The company avoids overpromising and instead prioritizes honesty at every stage, creating a sense of trust that extends beyond the completion of a project.

That same clarity and intention are reflected in the company's visual identity. With two distinct logos, Castillo Remodelzone presents both strength and approachability, mirroring the balance they bring to their work. The branding reinforces their commitment to professionalism while maintaining a sense of warmth, signaling to clients that they are entering into a collaborative and transparent process.

This philosophy carries through all services, from full residential construction to kitchen and bath remodels and custom additions. As VA-approved builders and remodelers, Castillo Remodelzone also works with disabled veterans through VA-funded grant programs. These projects focus on transforming homes into accessible, supportive environments that improve daily living and independence, adding another layer of purpose to the company's work.

The sibling partnership at the core of the business brings a unique dynamic. Built on shared values and mutual respect, Michelle and Quincy Castillo have created a company culture that emphasizes professionalism while maintaining a positive and supportive environment. That culture extends to their team and, ultimately, to every client experience.

As demand for personalized, well-designed living spaces continues to grow, Castillo Remodelzone remains focused on its founding principles. By combining technical expertise with a human-centered approach, the company offers more than construction services. It delivers clarity in a complex process and creates spaces that truly align with the people who live in them.

For homeowners seeking a partner who values both the process and the outcome, Castillo Remodelzone represents a shift in how construction can be experienced, one project at a time.
